General—There has never been a time in the history of the Omaha live stock market when the prospect was as favorable as at the present time. Not only are the receipts of stock increasing, but the demand is more than keeping pace with the receipts, and the only difficulty, just at present, is to keep the receipts up to the demand. The advent of new buyers has increased the demand and produced a very healthy competition.

Cattle—The receipts were light, and the market was correspondingly dull. Values remain about the same as yesterday. There is a very fair demand for choice dressed beef cattle, and very few coming in.

Hogs—The market presented a very lively appearance to-day. There were a good many buyers on the market anxious to pick up as many good loads as possible, and the competition was strong. The market was a strong be higher, and active at the advance. The pens were cleared as rapidly as the hogs could be run over the scales, and everything was sold early in the day. Light and medium weight hogs are in the best demand, but heavy hogs sold well to-day, a few heavy hogs thrown out were sold at the same prices as the medium weights from which they were selected.

Sheep—The demand is light and there is nothing doing in the market.

OMAHA WHOLESALE MARKETS

General Markets, Friday Evening. June 11.

EGGS—The market is dull and weak. While the bulk of sales are being made at Sc, a few are going at 73/c. Shippers will do well to candle carefully before shipping and avoid paving freight on rotton eggs.

BUTTER—Receipts are very heavy and only comparatively small parties can be never.

BERRIES—The market has been rather un-

BERRIES-The market has been rather un-Berries—The market has been rather unsteady on strawberries for the past few days, but it is apparently settling down to steady prices. The market is well supplied with lowa home grown. It is not anticipated that prices will go much tower, as the home-grown will not last much longer, and after they are gone the market will have to look to Michigan for its supply. A few black raspberries have been received and have sold fairly well to the local trade. Prices are most too high for shipment to outside markets. The berries received are southern and St. Louis homegrown. Red raspberries have put in an appearance in the market, but the receipts are very light. The following quotations are for choice shipping stock, quotations for common stock in the local trade being less: Strawberries, Iowa home grown, 16 qt cases, $1.60\tilde{a}$ 1.75; red raspberries, southern, 24-pt cases, $3.00; btack raspberries, southern, 24-pt cases, $5.00\tilde{a}$, 50; black raspberries, St. Louis home grown, drawers, 9 qts, $1.50\tilde{a}$1.75.
